

Nicole Léveillé's Bio

I wish to bring a piece of myself to the SBIG label, to bring a certain edge to the clothes. I adore clothes that are feminine and possess a certain edge to them. I hope that with my passion and dedication, I will be able to inspire other young girls to follow through their future aspirations. It is my pleasure to contribute to the growing fan base of the SBIG label. I hope to be able to show everyone who I am through my future designs with this label.

I am looking forward to work with the SBIG creative team. I am very excited to gain new knowledge concerning the making of this future collection. It is very exciting to see my designs being sold in stores! I think this is an amazing opportunity and I can't believe it is happening when I'm only 17 years old.

My inspirations come from many different fashion designers. Designers such as Pierre Balmain, Christian Dior, Valentino, as well as Canadian designers Dsquared inspire me. I find that I am inspired by the early pieces of Yves Saint Laurent. His ability to dress women in men inspired clothing but that is still feminine is incredible. I am also inspired by Coco Chanel's journey to success. Her power of determination is quality that I truly admire and expect from myself. I would like the SBIG fans to know that I've been passionate about fashion and sewing ever since I was 8 years old. My everyday life revolves around fashion and I am obsessed with creating clothes. I plan for my future career to involve fashion in some sort of way, hopefully with design. I would like the SBIG fans to know that I am determined to do a great job with creating the next collection. They can expect me to create a collection with my best designs yet.